

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The

Study of the Scriptures

Delectable indeed are the meadow and the garden, but far more delectable the study of the divine writings. For there indeed are flowers that fade, but here are thoughts which abide in full bloom; there is the breath of the zephyr, but here the breath of the Spirit; there is the hedge of thorns, but here is the guarding providence of God; there is the song of cicadæ, but here the melody of the prophets; there is the pleasure which comes from sight, but here the profit which comes from study.

The garden is confined to one place, but the Scriptures are in all parts of the world; the garden is subject to the necessities of the seasons, but the Scriptures are rich in foliage, and laden with fruit alike in winter and in summer. Let us then give diligent heed to the study of the Scriptures; for if thou dost this the Scriptures will expel thy despondency and engender pleasure, extirpate vice and make virtue take root, and in the tumult of life it will save thee from suffering like those who are tossed by troubled waters. The sea rages, but thou sailest on with calm weather; for thou hast the study of the Scriptures for thy pilot; for this is the cable which the trials of life do not break asunder.

CHRYSOSTOM.

Foreword

This little collection of Scripture verses illustrating the relation of the Heavenly Father to his Earthly Child is dedicated to those who suffer and would be strong. It owes its origin to a long experience of pain and suffering. During a recent severe illness the writer found her chief comfort in the helpful and beautiful admonitions and promises of the Bible, with which her early training in a Christian home had stored her mind. Now that health is in part restored, she desires to share this comfort with others.

Some one has finely said that in facing the inevitable we face what is sacred. We sound the depths of sorrow, and we find in the darkness a well of holy joy; we submit to the discipline of suffering, and we feel beneath us the Everlasting Arms. Sickness thus teaches us many a lesson which we could learn in no other way. In time we come to feel that it has been good for us to have been afflicted, because we have realized anew our dependence as children upon our Father in heaven, and have learned that nothing which concerns us is too small for his notice, and that no evil which assails us is beyond his control.

How often in monotony and loneliness has the verse, "No chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous; nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby," brought back into life a sense of purpose and meaning. In suffering the words rise naturally to our lips: "I poured out my complaint before Him; I showed before him my trouble." We cry with the Psalmist: "My groaning is not hid from thee," or with St. Paul: "We in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened." How sweet it is to know that long ago other weary souls had their experience of consolation: "Return unto thy rest, O my soul, for the Lord hath dealt bountifully with thee;" "I was brought low and He helped me."

The greatness of our need lends new meaning to such terms as "supplication." When we have struggled to conform our petitions to the ideal of the apostle, "In everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God," we find ourselves soothed and comforted by the promise of peace which follows the command: "And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." When He holds our eyes waking so that we cannot sleep, we recall the verse, "Wearisome nights are appointed me," and find help in the words "appointed me." Often to a mind stored with Scripture sentences one verse will follow another in beautiful sequence: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." "This is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest, and this is the refreshing."

But what of those minds that are not thus stored? Are the children of the present day taught as were those of a past generation to commit to memory passages of Scripture which will stand them in good stead in later life?

Let us, then, consider the work of teaching our children to know and love the Bible, no small or unimportant part of our responsibility as parents. They will understand and value our efforts when in after days of discouragement or weariness or of pain they find themselves able to draw strength and comfort from this record of the noblest thoughts and emotions of mankind.

No better witness to the value of an early familiarity with the Bible can be found than John Ruskin, who, in describing the formative influences which surrounded his youth, writes as follows of his training in the knowledge of the Scriptures:

"I have with deep gratitude to chronicle what I owe to my mother for the resolutely consistent lessons which so exercised me in the Scriptures as to make every word of them familiar to my ear in habitual music, yet in that familiarity revered, as transcending all thought and ordaining all conduct.*

"Once knowing the 32nd of Deuteronomy, the 119th Psalm, the 15th of First Corinthians, the Sermon on the Mount, and most of the Apocalypse, every syllable by heart, and having always a way of thinking with myself what words meant, it was impossible for me, even in the foolishlest time of youth, to write entirely superficial or formal English."

We His Children

We his Children

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God.—1 John 3:1.

Ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.—2 Cor. 6:18.

Beloved, now are we the sons of God.—1 John 3:2.

And it shall come to pass that in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people, there it shall be said unto them, Ye are the sons of the living God.—Hosea 1:10.

As many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.—John 1:12.

And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.—Gal. 4:6, 7.

Ye are the children of the Lord your God.

His Child

The Father and His Child

The Father's Understanding

His understanding is infinite.—Psa. 147: 5.

Lord, thou knowest all things.—John 21: 17.

Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world.—Acts 15: 18.

Before I formed thee . . . I knew thee.—
Jer. 1: 5.

For the Lord is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.—1 Sam. 2: 3.

The Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.—1 Sam. 16: 7.

For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous. Psa. 1: 6.

Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his.—2 Tim. 2: 19.

For thou hast considered my trouble, thou hast known my soul in adversities. Psal. 31:7.

For your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask Him.—Matt. 6:8.

Psalm 139.

O Lord, thou hast searched me and known me.

Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising; thou understandest my thought afar off.

Thou compassest my path and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways.

For there is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O Lord, thou knowest it altogether.

Thou hast beset me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me.

Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it.

Whither shall I go from thy Spirit or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there.

If I take the wings of the morning, and twell in the uttermost parts of the sea;

Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me.

If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night shall be light about me.

Yea, the darkness hideth not from thee; but the night shineth as the day: the darkness and the light are both alike to thee.

For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mother's womb.

I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well.

My substance was not hid from thee, when I was made in secret, and curiously wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.

Thine eyes did see my substance, yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned, when as yet there was none of them.

How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the sum of them!

If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand: when I awake, I am still with thee.

Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts.

And see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.

The Father's Power

God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God.—Psa. 62: 11.

Thine, O Lord, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and Thou art exalted as head above all. Both riches and honor come of Thee, and Thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great and to give strength unto all.—1 Chron. 29: 11, 12.

Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible.—Matt. 19: 26.

The God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation: that ye may know . . . what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand.—Eph. 1: 17-20.

And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.—Matt. 28:18.

Able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think.—Eph. 3:20.

Able to succor them that are tempted.—Heb. 2:18.

Able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy.—Jude 24.

Able . . . to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them.—Heb. 7:25.

Able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work.—2 Cor. 9:8.

Able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day.—2 Tim. 1:12.

Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.—Phil. 3:21.

There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.—Josh. 1:5.

The Father's Discipline

I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.—Isa. 48: 10.

Thou broughtest us into the net; Thou laidst affliction upon our loins.—Psa. 66: 11.

No man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto.—1 Thess. 3: 3.

But though He cause grief, yet will He have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies. For he doth not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men.—Lam. 3: 32, 33.

Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty.—Job 5: 17.

For whom the Lord loveth He correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth.—Prov. 3: 12.

As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten.—Rev. 3: 19.

My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of Him: for whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom He receiveth. If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not? But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards and not sons. Furthermore, we have had fathers of our flesh which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: shall we not much rather be in subjection unto the Father of spirits and live? For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure; but He for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness. Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless, afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby. Wherefore lift up the hands which hang down and the feeble knees.—Heb. 12: 5-12.

The Lord your God proveth you, to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul.—Deut. 13: 3.

Blessed is the man whom Thou chastenest, O Lord, and teachest him out of thy law, that thou mayest give him rest from the days of adversity.—Psa. 94: 12, 13.

Before I was afflicted I went astray: but now have I kept thy word. It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy statutes. I know, O Lord, that thy judgments are right, and that Thou in faithfulness hast afflicted me.—Psa. 119: 67, 71, 75.

When he slew them, then they sought Him; and they returned and inquired early after God.—Psa. 78: 34.

He is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap; and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness.—Mal. 3: 2, 3.

He knoweth the way that I take: when He hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold.—Job 23: 10.

Every branch that beareth fruit, He purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.—John 15: 2.

For it became Him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the Captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.—Heb. 2: 10.

Though He were a Son, yet learned He obedience by the things which He suffered.—Heb. 5: 8.

We glory in tribulations also; knowing that tribulation worketh patience.—Rom. 5: 3.

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal.—2 Cor. 4: 17, 18.

Let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well-doing, as unto a faithful Creator.—1 Peter 4: 19.

The Father's Pity

The Lord is very pitiful and of tender mercy.—James 5: 11.

Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. For He knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust.—Psa. 103: 13, 14.

But He, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity and destroyed them not: yea, many a time turned He his anger away, and did not stir up all his wrath. For He remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away and cometh not again.—Psa. 78: 38, 39.

In all their affliction He was afflicted, and the Angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity He redeemed them: and

He bare them and carried them all the days of old.—Isa. 63:9.

His soul was grieved for the misery of Israel.—Judges 10:16.

The Lord is good to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works. The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and raiseth up all those that be bowed down.—Psa. 145:9, 14.

He stayeth His rough wind in the day of the east wind.—Isa. 27:8.

For the needy shall not always be forgotten.—Psa. 9:18.

For He shall deliver the needy when he crieth; the poor, also, and him that hath no helper. He shall spare the poor and needy, and shall save the souls of the needy. He shall redeem their soul from deceit and violence, and precious shall their blood be in His sight.—Psa. 72:12-14.

I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me.—Psa. 40:17.

A bruised reed shall He not break, and the smoking flax shall He not quench.—Isa. 42:3.

Jesus called his disciples unto Him and said, I have compassion on the multitude because they continue with me now three days and have nothing to eat: and I will not send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way.—Matt. 15:32.

When the Lord saw her, He had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.—Luke 7:13.

For we have not a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are.—Heb. 4:15.

The Father's Love

God is love.—1 John 4:8.

Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God and knoweth God. . . . In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us. . . . And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.—1 John 4:7, 9, 10, 16.

The burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by Malachi: I have loved you, saith the Lord.—Mal. 1:1, 2.

Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee.—Jer. 31:3.

I will love them freely.—Hosea 14:4.

He will love thee and bless thee.—Deut. 7:13.

The Lord did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people; for ye were the fewest of all people: but because the Lord loved you . . . hath the Lord brought you out with a mighty hand.—Deut. 7:7, 8.

God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us.—Eph. 2:4.

For the Father himself loveth you.—John 16:27.

Thou . . . hast loved them as thou hast loved Me.—John 17:23.

He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth Me: and he that loveth Me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him and will manifest myself to him.—John 14:21.

For God so loved the world that he gave his only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

As the Father hath loved Me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love.—John 15:9.

Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us.—1 John 3:16.

Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.—John 15:13.

God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.—Rom. 5:8.

Having loved his own which were in the world, He loved them unto the end.—John 13:1.

The Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me.—Gal. 2:20.

Him that loved us and washed us from our sins in his own blood.—Rev. 1:5.

The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us.—Rom. 5:5.

That ye . . . may be able to comprehend . . . what is the breadth and length and depth and height, and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge.—Eph. 3:17-19.

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God.—1 John 3:1.

We love Him because He first loved us.—1 John 4:19.

The love of Christ constraineth us.—2 Cor. 5:14.

Walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us.
—Eph. 5:2.

The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace.—
Gal. 5:22.

Keep yourselves in the love of God.—Jude 21.

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation or distress or persecution or famine or nakedness or peril or sword? Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels, nor principalities nor powers, nor things present nor things to come, nor height nor depth nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.—Rom. 8:35, 37, 38, 39.

[See 1 Cor. 13th chapter on Love, R. V.]

The Father's Purpose

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate Me, and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love Me and keep my commandments.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work:

but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.

Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

Thou shalt not kill.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want. And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat; and no man gave unto him. And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son; make me as one of thy hired servants. For we know that, if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven:

If so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked.

For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

Now He that hath wrought us for the self-same thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit. Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body we are absent from the Lord:

(For we walk by faith, not by sight:)

We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.—2 Cor. 5: 1-8.

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea.

And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God.

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

And I saw no temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the temple of it.

And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honor into it.

And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day: for there shall be no night there.

And they shall bring the glory and honor of the nations into it.

And there shall in no wise enter into it anything that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life.—Rev. 21: 1-4, 22-27.

And he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb. In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations:

And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve Him: and they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.

And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever.—Rev. 22: 1-5.

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you,

Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.—1 Pet. 1:3-5.

For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory;

While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.—2 Cor. 4:16-18.
